EQUALITIES POLICY

This Equalities Policy is a statement of good practice that covers all aspects of Grey Court School's activities and the non-discriminatory manner in which it deals with all members of the school community.

The purpose of the document is to make a statement of principles and to establish specific areas where these principles are translated into practice. An action plan for the implementation of policy and practice is outlined, as are the monitoring procedures for evaluation.

A Statement of Principles

Grey Court School aims to provide equality of access and equality of opportunity for all students irrespective of their class or social background, race or sex, sexual orientation, ability and medical status (including HIV). We are proud of, and value, the diverse backgrounds of our students. We believe as a comprehensive school every child has the right to a challenging and stimulating education. We also believe that the curriculum itself should reflect the cultural diversity of our society as a whole, so that all students grow up with an awareness of the contribution made by other cultures to that society, even if they have not directly encountered them at school.

To promote these principles the following words make up our equal opportunities statement and are to be found in our classrooms:

At Grey Court School every student matters. We believe in respecting differences and celebrating the various cultures which make up our special learning community

Aims

- To ensure that all governors and staff know and understand what the policy is on equalities and follow it if discrimination is reported.
- To ensure that all students, parents and carers know and understand what the policy is and what they should do if discrimination arises.
- All members of the school community will challenge and act on all forms of discrimination that are witnessed or reported using school systems and procedures.
- All students are prepared through their school experience for life in a culturally diverse society, free from discrimination and prejudice.

Objectives

- To ensure no person at Grey Court School is treated less favourably because of their race, disability, gender, sex, age, religion, sexual orientation or because they are pregnant or entitled to paternity leave.
- To work alongside Strathmore School to promote collaboration and friendships between students in a mainstream school and students with profound learning difficulties who are educated in specialist provision
- To monitor and respond to any homophobic bullying / transphobic bullying by categorising this form of discrimination separately, in same way as racist bullying is logged on SIMS.
- To ensure all staff and students are consulted regarding contents of our equality policy, including using student collegium, and that training enables the school to achieve its objectives.

- To ensure school website makes it clear what our policy is and how we deliver its objectives to local community through equality page on school website

Equality Duties Falling on Schools

Race

Since the introduction of the Race Relations Act, 1976 (amended 2000), schools have to have due regard to:

- promote the elimination of unlawful racial discrimination
- promote equality of opportunity
- promote good relations between persons of different racial groups.

Our intent as a school is to ensure equality of access through a broad and balanced curriculum appropriate to needs of all learners in our community, equality of uptake to minimise effect of cultural capital and equality of outcome to ensure a just and democratic school community.

In order to meet the requirements of this duty, the school will monitor race equality on the basis of this Policy and will assess the impact on pupils, staff and parents/carers of different racial groups.

The headteacher will report progress regularly to the Governing Body.

Finally, we measure success not just in providing a learning environment in which cultural backgrounds are tolerated but rather one in which the diversity of our learning community are celebrated and events such as our multi-cultural month and multi-cultural evening allow us to achieve this important feature of our equality policy.

Disability

Since September 2002 it has been unlawful for any school to discriminate against disabled pupils in regard to admissions, education and associated services and exclusions. Grey Court School will

- publish a disability equality scheme action plan (Accessibility Plan) and involve disabled people where possible in producing these
- demonstrate actions and outcomes

The Disability Equality Duty (DED) came into force in December 2006. This was introduced to ensure the elimination of unlawful discrimination on the grounds of disability and to promote equality of opportunity for disabled people, including accessibility to buildings and publications.

In order to meet the requirements of this duty, the school will monitor disability equality on the basis of this Policy and will assess the impact on pupils, staff and parents/carers of with varying disabilities. The headteacher will report progress regularly to the Governing Body.

All students who have a disability which impacts on learning have progress monitored. If the student isn't registered on Education Needs List then they are monitored separately on the school's Vulnerability Register.

Gender including Trans-Gender

The Gender Equality Duty (GED) came into force in April 2007. It requires all public authorities, including schools to:

- promote gender equality of opportunity between men and women
- eliminate unlawful discrimination
- eliminate harassment.

In order to comply with this duty, the school will:

- publish a gender equality scheme and action plan and involve stakeholders in producing these
- demonstrate actions and outcomes.

In order to meet the requirements of this duty, the school will monitor gender equality on the basis of this Policy and will assess the impact on pupils, staff and parents/carers. The headteacher will report progress regularly to the Governing Body.

Sexual Orientation

The Equality Act (Sexual Orientation) Regulations 2007 outlaw discrimination on the grounds of sexual orientation in the provision of goods and services. The school's admissions and recruitment procedures are non-discriminatory and ensure equality of opportunity. The school is fully committed to challenging homophobia in all contexts including educating students regarding the choice of terms they may choose to use around the school.

Religion and Belief

Parliament approved the Racial and Religious Hatred Act in 2006 and this makes it a criminal offence to use threatening words or behaviour with the intention of stirring up hatred against any group of people defined by their religious beliefs or lack of religious beliefs. Grey Court School will monitor all incidents of harassment alongside its monitoring of incidents of racism and bullying. We will ensure that our curriculum is non-discriminatory and includes equality of opportunity for learning about a variety of religious beliefs.

Age

The Employment Equality (Age) regulations 2006 prohibit unlawful discrimination on the grounds of age. The academy will comply with this duty in all of its recruitment activities.

Pregnancy / maternity / paternity

Please refer to the school's paternity policy for a clear and detailed explanation

Bullying

The school will monitor bullying and harassment in general, and any bullying or harassment falling into any of the above categories, under its Behaviour and Anti-Bullying Policies.

Community Cohesion

The Education Act 2002, Section 78, states:

'The curriculum for all maintained schools should promote the spiritual, moral, cultural, mental and physical development of pupils at the school and of society, and prepare pupils at the school for the opportunities, responsibilities and experiences of later life'

The Education and Inspections Act 2006 inserted a new section 21(5) to this Act introducing a duty on the governing bodies of maintained schools to promote community cohesion.

Every school – whatever its intake and wherever it is located – is responsible for educating children and young people who will live and work in a country which is diverse in terms of cultures, religions or beliefs, ethnicities and social backgrounds.

By 'Community' is meant:

- the school community – the pupils, their families and the school's staff
- the community around the school – the local community of people who live and work there
- the wider community of Britain
- the global community – formed by the EU, Commonwealth and international links.

Community cohesion and engagement at Grey Court School are valued as means by which we promote equality of opportunity and strive to ensure equality of achievement.

IMPLEMENTATION

Grey Court School will comply with all of the duties outlined in section 2.3 above by monitoring and dealing effectively with incidents of harassment, by auditing the curriculum, monitoring attainment and ensuring equality of opportunity for all of its students.
