Important Notice!

The End of Google Guardian Summaries and SIMS Parent

In our continued efforts to improve parental access to their children's school data, we have decided to end the use of Google Guardian summaries and SIMS Parent from 19/07/22. From September 2022, we will use Edulink, which provides access to information such as homework, achievement, attendance all in one place.

Unfortunately, we had many issues with both SIMS Parent and Google Guardian summaries which led us to researching the market in order to provide parents with a reliable system where they can access the information in one place, thus no need for two separate systems. Edulink provides this solution. Students will also be given access to their Edulink account where they will be able to view timetables, achievement and behaviour points, and homework, which will sync directly from Google Classroom. Information on how to setup your account will be provided soon.

Extreme Rivers Revelation finds Dorey all at sea!

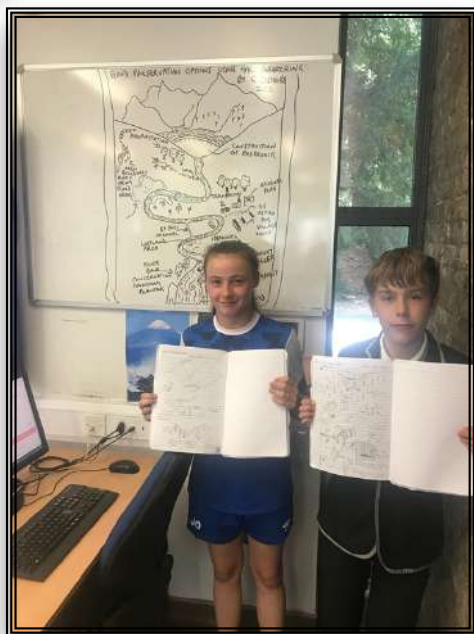

by Mr Clements

I have very much enjoyed covering for Mr Bashford this term as he has been away filming his docu-series on Extreme River Management for the Discovery channel. Our year 8 geography class was very animated when I named the rivers Sir Bashford was measuring. Margo Ferris was thrilled that he was estimating the height of the Lynmouth point break via a coracle as she visits North Devon every year! Meanwhile Lucan Ray recommended his favourite surf spot at the mouth of the Kromrivier near Cape St Francis, South Africa, as a location for his follow up series to be aired on "Dave."

Perhaps, inspired by the success of the formation of the English Society, I mooted a year 8 geographical society evening where we premiered the Big Bash's attempt to surf the famous Hogsmill river's Kingston bore (a bit like the River Severn's tidal bore, just more streamlined!) which will take place in October. However, whilst this elicited a surge of approval from most of the class, an evening engaged in tidal measurements did not seem to float the boat of young Leo Dorey!

Elsewhere in the global hemisphere of geography covers, Mr Gordon Walker's class engaged in an extreme diagram competition where we created physical geography/fantasy landscape hybrids using HB pencils! With my own landscape featuring a grazing unicorn, I judged Jaime Ott and Jack Bolsover Goard to have produced the best sketches. Hopefully, the lesson combined creativity with mindfulness although it did cost me a spot in the eBulletin and two drumstick lollies!

Y10 Activity Week

I had the great pleasure of accompanying Year 10 students and staff on three excellent trips over the past week: to Sussex university, on a work related learning day and to Thorpe Park.

I normally expect the worst on such trips, especially with regards to the dystopian nightmare that is Thorpe Park. However, on account of the fantastic behaviour over three days my fears were allied and I actually had a great time!

Students on the Sussex university trip impressed through their astute questioning and knowledge of the university sector. Some even came away considering Sussex, nestled as it is between the sea and the South Downs, as a possible location for their further education studies.

My meet up with two old university friends for a reunion of sorts, over the weekend, furthered my belief in a degree providing a platform for opportunity and social mobility.

Whilst the pendulum may have swung towards STEM related subjects over the past few years, it is still important to note, that for one friend, a degree in Hispanic studies, had led to a career as a hedge-fund manager; and a degree in Philosophy had led my second comrade into commercial law.

Hopefully, the students pictured in this blue sky picture will find similar opportunities via their passions in the future!

Talking of passion, Ms Weston, Ms Comrie and Ms Corrighan are a formidable organisational team with the students' best interests at heart. They have worked tirelessly to put these events, as well as yesterday's achievement assembly, together, so it was great to see the only drama being confined to the pages of Ms Weston's novella that she is currently writing in her spare time. Pictured in true English Rose fashion, with an umbrella to protect her alabaster complexion, her book, Pride and regimentedness dans casa del more promises to be a page-turner!

The Decline of the Roman Empire?

According to Emperor Willmore Stevenous, the winner of the yearly house competition (won by Roman last year) is being compiled by Mr Jacob (the plot thickens - a Spartan counting his own house points?) and Ms Drinkwater. I suspect the worst! However, luckily loyal Romans such as Jacob Ramsell made sure that standards were maintained throughout the year 9-10 Sports' day. Charged with keeping the Roman banner aloft for the entirety of the event, Mr Ramsell did not let me down! Hail Grey Courteous, Hail Ramsell, Hail Rome!

Year 7

A few Words from Mr Day

Congratulations to Y7 for completing their first year at Grey Court. It seems to have gone very fast. We are very proud of all the achievements of Y7s who have done amazingly well. I am often pleased to hear the year group commented upon positively by staff who have thoroughly enjoyed teaching them this year.

It feels like a long time ago that they were arriving for their first day in September - we had to Covid-test all of them on arrival! We have seen fantastic exams results, sports performances, productions and participation in the wider community.

I, and the Y7 team, wish all students and parents a restful summer - and we look forward to seeing what you all the students will go on to achieve in the future.

Behind the Scenes

with the new teaching and learning practitioners

The new Teaching and Learning practitioners went to the 'Festival of Education' at the end of last week.

It was a great day for teachers to engage in new ideas surrounding teaching and learning and to be inspired by other educators.

Ms May was able to see David Olusoga speak about the importance of Black British history in the curriculum and she got to meet him afterwards!

The talk he gave was really engaging and motivating, and she spoke to him about the impact that he has had on the Grey Court curriculum, especially how all year 7s now read his book each year.

About David Olusoga:

David Adetayo Olusoga OBE is a British historian, writer, broadcaster, presenter and film-maker. He is Professor of Public History at the University of Manchester. He has presented historical documentaries on the BBC and contributed to The One Show and The Guardian

My team of specialists were up against it but placed third. Our highest placing since records began. Very proud library person!!

Food & Nutrition

by Ms Clark

What a year we have had in the Food and Nutrition department!

The last few weeks have been very busy with lots of exciting lessons across years 7-10.

Year 7 and 8 were lucky as they had an extra lesson in their rotation so were able to cook their 'Signature Dish'. We had a wide variety of creations - see some of them in action!

Year 9 had their Multicultural Final lesson, where they created their masterpiece from another country.

Year 10 also experimented with our version of the 'Tunnocks Teacake Challenge' where they have to use Michelin star-style and quality plating to inspire presentation of a simple food item.

SCHOOL'S OUT FOR SUMMER

Our Chutney Project came to its conclusion with our Allotment Club whipping up batches of Strawberry and Chilli Preserve and a Rhubarb and Apple Chutney with their produce picked from Crockford Farm.

Ms Shore and Ms Oyler took our chutney makers to a local farm, in conjunction with School Food Matters, our local charity. They saw how seasonal, locally-sourced fruit and vegetables were fresher, had better colour and are tastier than their supermarket counterparts. Year 7 will sell their chutneys at upcoming school events to hopefully make some money for future allotment and enterprise events.

in Food & Nutrition with Ms Howarth & Ms Hunt

Ms Howarth and our lovely technician, Ms Hunt, were superstars in prepping for our India Day and China Day for Activity Week. They made 500 dumpling wrappers from scratch, fillings for dim sum and spring rolls and also made dips and Indian snacks. Massive shout out to these two!

Y12 End of Year Celebration

On Monday afternoon, all of year 12 will be celebrating their year with the annual Graduate Edge awards ceremony. It is a lovely opportunity for the year group to get together and celebrate a year of hard work and fantastic achievements.

Y12 Summer Message from Mr Taylor

Well done Year 12 for an outstanding year! We began this year after what was a very unsettled period of time, and still with uncertainty hanging over us in terms of how “normal” the year would be. Over course of the year as we became more certain of our situation and more confident that we’d be able to complete the year with minimal disruption the character of the year group has gradually revealed itself. You’ve shown that you’re adaptable, as you’ve taken any changes in your stride, resilient as you’ve faced down all challenges to make it to this point, responsible, as you’ve taken charge of your own learning and progress. What’s also shone through is that you’re an incredibly positive group of young people, with a brilliant collective sense of humour and a real willingness to get involved and help out. Sports day was a real highlight of the year, it was organised in response to your feedback and in a week it went from just an idea to a reality because so many of you stepped up to help organise and to take part in events. It was a lovely day and I’ll have fond memories from it for years to come.

We’re heading into year 13 in a strong position, with our UCAS process well underway, and a strong foundation of knowledge in our subject areas. This will enable us to keep pushing on, keep challenging ourselves and keep growing and developing into the wonderful, successful young people who I can already see most of you as. This next year is about making that secure and making sure that nobody can help but see you as the wonderful people you really are.

Have a safe, sunny summer and see you all in Year 13!

A Level Enrolment

Thursday 25 August: threshold assessments

A level examinations are very exam-focused and you are judged - for the most part - on your ability to perform under pressure for periods of 2-3 hours in a very controlled environment. We have, therefore, opted to timetable a series of threshold assessments in the week beginning 12 September 2022. These will be in Literacy, Mathematics, Biology, Chemistry and Physics.

Therefore, if you are studying English Literature, History, Geography, Philosophy, Politics, Psychology, Sociology, Economics. you will be required to take a literacy assessment.

If students take mathematics, physics and chemistry, you will be required to sit a ONE hour Mathematics paper.

If you opt to take Physics, Chemistry or Biology at A-level you will be required to sit a ONE hour paper in this subject.

If you gain a "below standard grade" this is an indicator that you may struggle to cope with the demands of A-level standard assessment. At this point we would advise you to opt for a course that is more suited to your talents and abilities and so has a better chance of broadening your options when you leave us. We will provide suitable advice and guidance at this point.

After you have enrolled in the summer you will be sent a confirmation email that will have all the relevant revision materials attached to it in order to adequately prepare for these tests

Year 13 Clearing and Clearing Plus

If you have not met the requirements for your firm or insurance choice of university, or you have changed your mind about the course you want to study you can have a look for courses through Clearing. Click Here to find out more about Clearing and how to use it.

Clearing Plus

UCAS have created a new addition to Clearing to help you. With thousands of different courses available it can be hard to find the perfect option. To speed things up, UCAS have taken what they know about you, and what they know about the types of students who are looking for, to suggest some courses you might like. If you express an interest in a course, the university or college can contact you. Don't worry, you can still browse courses in Clearing using our search tool.

Who can use it?

Clearing Plus isn't available for everyone. If you're unsuccessful with your application or are applying for the first time for a place in Clearing, you'll be able to 'view your matches'.

How does the matching work?

First, they look at your original choices you applied for, combined with your qualifications and grades. Universities and colleges have already told us what courses they'd like to make available in Clearing Plus (no, not all courses are included in your matches), and the entry requirements for them. Then, they analyse what students in Clearing went on to study in previous years.

The UCAS team then matches your profile to each course.

How do I see my matches?

If you're eligible – you're unsuccessful or applying for the first time – you will see a button in Track, 'See matches'. Once you hit that you'll be able to see a full list of your matches.

If you express an interest in a course, that university or college can contact you. But remember, courses in Clearing fill up quickly, and you may not always receive a call.

We'd therefore recommend you also look for courses in Clearing using our search tool.

CAREER HELPLINE

If you have not achieved the grades you wanted or are thinking of taking a different pathway such as an apprenticeship you can call the Summer Support helpline to talk to a qualified careers adviser.

Please phone 07540 156905 or 07864 612857. Appointments are available at offices in Surbiton, Kingston or Twickenham. The line is open from 12pm to 4pm from 18 to 31 August 2022.

You can also email: 14-25@achievingforchildren.org.uk at any time and they will get back to you as soon as they can.

Wimbledon Our BBGs 2022

Congratulations to the 12 Grey Court students that were involved in the Wimbledon Championships as ball boys and girls. Their commitment and drive to succeed since the selection process started back in September has been outstanding. The hard work in the weekly training sessions at school and at Wimbledon paid off for these students and their discipline throughout was a credit to Grey Court and themselves. Being a BBG at Wimbledon is an unforgettable experience and is something that these students will be able to talk about for many years to come - whether that be in an interview for a job or telling stories to their grandchildren one day!

SUMMER SOCIALISATION FOR TEENS IN RICHMOND AND KINGSTON BOROUGH

Running for four weeks over summer 2022, we are offering an exciting variety of things for young people to do at our two youth centres.

We offer a relaxed and safe space for young people where they can spend their holiday time trying out different activities, making new friends and chatting to friendly youth workers.

A healthy nutritious lunch is provided every day that young people are involved in making.
