This week is Anti-Bullying Week and the 2022 theme is Reach Out. In form time, tutors led a session on the different types of bullying, as well as identifying the different roles people can play in bullying including: ringleader, assistant, reinforcer and bystander - and that all these roles have negative consequences. We spoke about the positive actions you can take if you witness an incident of bullying as a 'defender' and also things you can do to reach out if you are benign targeting. In assembly we spoke about the importance of reaching out to report bullying as well as being willing and able to listen to people who might be reaching out to you for help.

We also emphasised the negative impact that social media can have on students. Again, we encourage all students to delete apps such as Snapchat, Tik-Tok, Instagram and Discord from their phones and avoid any group chats on apps like WhatsApp, as this is where bullying can often take place. We ask parents to support us at home by reinforcing this message, and by monitoring the use of phones by our students.

Thursday 24 November is Academic Tutoring Day. If you have not yet booked a slot to see your child's form tutor, then please do so via the School Cloud system. A reminder that the meeting is IN PERSON. We are just using the online platform for appointment bookings. The purpose of these meetings is to discuss how your child has settled in and how they are progressing in lessons. They will receive their first reports which will include effort, homework and presentation grades, and will give a good indication of how they are doing - and can then set some targets for the rest of the term. I hope the meetings go well and if you have any queries don't hesitate to get in touch.

KS3 ONLINE SCHEME OF WORKS

A reminder that students can access their online Scheme of Work for this half term in Maths through their Google classroom. On this document they can watch lesson videos for every objective they are studying this half term whilst also being able to complete practice questions.

Students also have access to Mathswatch where they can use the 'My Progress' tab to complete interactive questions based on their classwork. This is a fantastic way for students to consolidate their classwork and they are strongly encouraged to engage with the document.

A massive congratulations to the following students who have been selected by their class teachers to be their Maths' Star of Half Term 1. All students should have received an electronic certificate of achievement and come to M2 to receive a chocolate treat!

Year 9

From the successful feedback we received (and observed) during tutor time, the year 9's have continued with their weekly mindful wellbeing activities. This week we kicked off the 'physical' part of the programme. 9 Beech completed a boxing and coordination session, which was kindly run by Mr Murphy and Mr Da Silva. A huge well done to 9 Beech for being so enthusiastic and giving everything a go. Next up...9 Oak!

Junior Choir

Young Voices 2023

We are very excited to be taking the Junior Choir to Young Voices 2023, where they will be performing at Wembley Arena with a large number of schools in 'the largest children's choir concerts in the world'! We have been working hard on the songs for this year's concert and are looking forward to performing in February 2023. More information will be sent to parents shortly. See the poster on the next page

Your child will soon be performing in the BIGGEST concert you've ever seen, be prepared to be SO PROUD! >>

Your child will be part of a choir of up to 9,000 other children at a huge arena near you!

On the day of the concert your child's choir will rehearse as one choir for the first time and then take part in the most amazing concert, produced by the UK's leading sound and light companies, with special guest artists that are sure to raise the roof of the arena.

Your child will be inspired and motivated through music and singing. Not only does singing on this scale provide a unique skill and learning opportunity it also provides a huge sense of personal achievement, improves mental health and gives children a life-changing musical experience.

Your child has worked so hard learning the songs and you will have the opportunity to celebrate this memorable achievement with them during the evening performance of the concert.

KS4 News

Ms Weston, Ms Clark and Ms Comrie

KS4 have had another excellent week this week, as they have settled back into term nicely. Lessons have been focussed and engagement across the board is excellent.

Thanks to those parents who attended the Ski Trip Parent Information Evenings; we hope you found it useful and informative!

Just a reminder about some key messages from last week:

There are new extra-curricular timetables out for this half term. If your child has yet to attend a club or activity, please do encourage them to join one this half term.

Please be aware that Academic Tutoring Day is this month. You will be receiving information about this soon.

Well done to all of the KS4 stars this week from PE!

Year 10

Our focus this week in year 10 has been on Anti-Bullying and the theme of this year's Anti-Bullying Week was Reach Out. Year 10 had an assembly and an activity in tutor time where they focused on kind behaviour and how and who to reach out to if they were worried about someone or themselves.

We have begun to put different support and interventions together for year 10 in addition to the variety of extra-curricular clubs available this week. Well done to those who attended homework club, which is now running on Tuesday lunchtimes and after school. Anyone is welcome to join and it is a great opportunity to stay on top of the demands of the GCSE courses being studied.

We look forward to welcoming you all next week at Academic Tutoring Day. Please ensure to make an appointment with your child's tutor and email Ms Clark if there are issues with making appointments and we can try to assist!

Achievement

I have been proud of our year 10 achievements this week. A massive well done to our reigning champion, Eva Meng who is our top scorer for achievement points and to Taylor Rumney and Julia Ciasnocha for conduct points. A big shout out to the fantastic 10 Oak this week for smashing the achievement leaderboard with 996 points.

Year 11

After a busy week of interventions and exams, year 11 has been nothing but a joy to the school. I am truly grateful to be head of this year's group. This has been reflected with your achievement points with... soaring ahead with... points. Don't forget the celebration assembly is around the corner so you need to get those points in. With the main focus this week being Anti-bullying Week I have discussed with the year 11.

Six months in the life of Vadym Duchenko and some revelations about Ms Smith

Mr Clements

At the time of writing it has been 267 days since the invasion of Ukraine - an event that has led to a number of displaced students being welcomed into our school community. Although morally, it always feels like the right decision to provide some sort of haven for those that seek respite, any decision to help does not come without a degree of stress. What will be the impact on class sizes? Are students' exams ready? Do we have the right language provision? Will students need counselling, money, support? How long will they stay? Are there networks in the local area? How can we maintain a neutral or non-political stance? What will be the impact on students within our existing community?

Moreover, these adult or managerial conundrums pale into insignificance when one considers the barriers facing each child who may be estranged from their family, worried about loved ones or traumatised as a consequence of violence or an uncertain journey across Europe. Then there is the minor matter of adjusting to different school rhythms and rituals, a new curriculum, absorbing complex information in a second language, cohabiting with host families, adapting the palette to a new diet, understanding road systems or tube maps or signs and symbols and cultural nuances, dialects and ticks. The following observation from a Ukrainian Sixth Former is particularly telling. Having complimented her on the voice and confidence she had recently developed after being quite quiet in year 11, she replied acerbically "To tell you the truth sir, I didn't understand anything you said to me in year 11 - especially your jokes!"

It is, therefore, a testament to this band of adaptable, funny, intelligent, willing and resilient students, that for the most part they have absorbed information, survived, evolved and thrived. Adversity has provided the force to work hard in lessons, take part in sporting events, volunteer as interpreters or even to dream of Cambridge or the Sixth Form or of gaining a place in the King's maths school. Adversity seems to have expanded their ambitions and potential rather than constricted them.

It is, therefore, with great pleasure that I was the beneficiary of a letter from Vadym Duchenko who rocked up in year 13, a little over six months ago, with some exam certificates in Cyrillic script to his name:

Dear Mr. Clements,

Writing to you is Vadym Duchenko, your Ukrainian student.

You kindly and heartily accepted and taught me in the Grey Court school this year.

It is with my great pleasure that I would like to share with you my good news - I have become a student of Southampton University, Life Sciences faculty.

Thanks to your warm welcome, participation, guidance and support I got a great experience of having studied in Grey Court school, got a good feeling on what good British education is, and improved my English skills as well.

Owing to your lessons, I was well-focused and prepared to take IELTS exam, where I got a really good result (8.5, 7.5, 6.5, 8.0)

On behalf of my countrymen, I would also like to cordially thank you, Sir, for your support of Ukrainians who found themselves in a tough situation this year.

What a great letter! Although, along with my jokes, I have to admit something is lost in translation, in that my science colleagues taught Vadym and are responsible for his English skills - I merely shared a cup-of tea with him and deciphered cyrillic script!

As an addendum of sorts, Ms Smith, has been crowned as “student support officer responsible for refugee advice, guidance and assimilation.” She has been at my side over the last six months welcoming students into our school. Whilst I have been responsible for - on the whole discussing the great Dynamo Kiev team of the late 1990s with most Ukrainian parents and host families (a surprisingly effective ice-breaker), she has quietly and unassumingly guided, counselled, educated and reassured a legion of students and their carers.

It was, therefore, a great pleasure to watch a three-hour live stream of the Jack Petchy celebration evening on Wednesday night. This featured Ms Smith, amongst others, being inducted into the “good egg” hall of fame. Adhering to the mantra of “just be nice” and “listen to others attentively” Ms Smith is the kind of person who will come into school on her day off, just to check if one of her charges is okay.

Moreover, if the title of “unassuming good egg” is too passive for some and because Ms Smith just likes to blend into the background, I will end this humble eBulletin with five secret facts about Ms Smith’s wild past.

1. Ms Smith likes nothing better than visiting the dump in Villiers road on a Saturday afternoon with her recycling!

2. Ms Smith once “ran with the bulls” in her gap year in Pamplona. YouTube video does exist of her exploits!

3. Ms Smith is a self-styled “indie-kid” who was an unofficial member of “Elastica” during the Brit-pop era.

4. As a youth, Ms Smith, was quite a wild child activist who was arrested alongside the environmentalist, Swampy, in Devon, when protesting against the expansion of the A30.

5. Ms Smith is referenced in the iconic football book, “All played out” after she travelled to Sardinia to follow the England team in the 1990 world cup.

In short, Ms Smith is a lady who puts the “world in motion!”

Building self-esteem and positive body image in boys and young men

This November, youth mental health charity stem4 is focusing on supporting the mental health of boys and young men.

Whilst there is a focus on building confidence and self-esteem in girls, boys can struggle with self-esteem too. Boys and young men often have to conform to gender stereotypes which set standards based on 'strength', both physical and emotional, as well as encourage competition and advantage.

Boys and young men often express low self-esteem differently. Some may act out through challenging behaviours, whilst others may 'escape' into distraction behaviours or withdraw.

Parents and carers play an important role in identifying and supporting positive self-esteem and worth. Our webinar this November looks at:

- early warning signs of low self-esteem and self-worth in boys and young men;
- identifying when eating issues might turn into eating disorders;
- management of muscle dysmorphia;
- practical ways in which parents and carers might engage with and address some of these concerns.

Join us for our webinar on Thursday 24 November at 7:30 as we open up the conversation on self-esteem in boys and young men.

Book your place at the AfC Mental Health Workshops being held at Grey Court School.

Careers

Miss Corrighan

Sixth Form: Enterprise Employer Talk

On Monday, Miss Howarth organised a talk for her sixth form students with Catherine Mitchell, who works in the Perfume industry for the IFF (International Flavors & Fragrances Inc). This was particularly useful for modules on branding and marketing and gave students an idea of the range of roles in the perfume industry as well as them doing some 'perfume testing' - thinking about the smells and the emotions they evoke. Catherine has a very creative job and her enthusiasm for the industry shone through and showed students the range of industries they could work in.

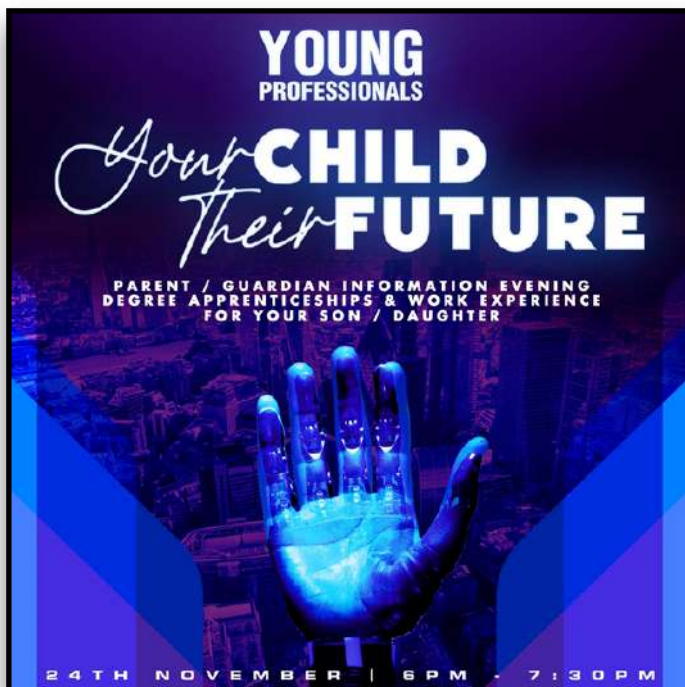

Year 9 Options' Talk - Kingston College

On Thursday, as part of the PDW & Options Programme for year 9, Richard Fisher from Kingston College visited the school and talked to students about the range of options and qualifications available. It is important that we speak to students about academic and vocational pathways so they are well-informed and can make the right decisions about their future.

Well done to the year 9s who actively participated in the session. Students and parents/carers can see the presentation: Grey Court Year 9 Options workshop November 2022 \(1\)

Young Professionals event - The job market for students leaving school or university can be difficult to navigate and now more than ever we need to help our young people by making them aware of all the opportunities available to them, as well as providing them with advice and tips on securing the very best opportunities when they enter the workplace. We would like to extend our invitation to all parents and guardians to attend our 'Your Child, Their Future' Event on Thursday 24th November from 6:00pm – 7:30pm.

We have leaders from some of the biggest employers in the world including KPMG, BT Group, Capgemini, British Airways, Linklaters and more who will each come along to talk to you, as parents and guardians, about how your son/daughter/young person can best navigate the job market to find some incredible work experience/internship placements, as well as graduate and apprenticeship opportunities. We will be sharing some useful tips around psychometric testing, how to prepare for assessment centres, putting together a CV, filling out application forms, as well as advice on how you can prepare your child/young person for the working world.

This event is completely free of charge, and it will be running via Zoom. The registration link can be found below, so please do sign up if you would like to attend. The zoom link will be emailed to you.
